Employment effects of joining global production networks:
Does domestic value added matter?

Structured Abstract

Motivation

Policy makers in many developing countries are seeking to increase the domestic value added ('value added ratio') of exports by formulating a number of policy instruments. This paper asks whether this policy emphasis in trade and industry policy making is consistent with the objective of achieving employment expansion through the export-oriented development strategy in a context where global production sharing is the prime mover of manufacturing export expansion.

Purpose

The purpose of this paper is to examine the rationale behind using value added ratio as a policy guidance to promote economic growth in the era of economic globalisation by using Thailand as a case study.

Approach and Methods

The hypothesis is that industries characterised by high value added ratio do not have the potential to generate greater employment effects. The analysis is based on value added ratio and gains from export-oriented industrialisation calculated by applying the input-output technique to the input-output tables of Thailand covering 74 manufacturing sectors for 1990, 1995, 2000, 2005, 2010, and 2015.

Results

There is no empirical support for the view that value added ratio is associated with export-induced employment. Industries characterised by low per-unit value added can generate jobs. The findings also shed light on the importance of a global production network orientation as a crucial determinant of export-induced employment.

Policy implication

The findings of this study by no means imply that value added ratio does not matter. However, there is a limit on value added created in a given country within production network because production sharing essentially involves spreading total value added of a given production across countries. An undue emphasis on industries with high value added through policy intervention (e.g., export ban, tariff and non-tariff barriers measures) may run counter the objective of reaping development gains from engaging in global production networks.

Highlights

- The failure of recent studies to detect a direct impact of trade on poverty could be because of the limitations of the trade-to-GDP ratio
- This study develops a new measure of trade openness which I dub ‘Price Convergence Index’
- Using this new index, trade openness has a direct impact on poverty alleviation
- The impact of economic growth on poverty is larger for countries with more open trade regimes

The Development Effects of the Extractive Colonial Economy: The Dutch Cultivation System in Java

MELISSA DELL

Harvard University

and

BENJAMIN A. OLKEN

MIT

First version received May 2018; Editorial decision January 2019; Accepted March 2019 (Eds.)

Colonial powers typically organized economic activity in the colonies to maximize their economic returns. While the literature has emphasized long-run negative economic impacts via institutional quality, the changes in economic organization implemented to spur production historically could also directly influence economic organization in the long-run, exerting countervailing effects. We examine these in the context of the Dutch Cultivation System, the integrated industrial and agricultural system for producing sugar that formed the core of the Dutch colonial enterprise in 19th century Java. We show that areas close to where the Dutch established sugar factories in the mid-19th century are today more industrialized, have better infrastructure, are more educated, and are richer than nearby counterfactual locations that would have been similarly suitable for colonial sugar factories. We also show, using a spatial regression discontinuity design on the catchment areas around each factory, that villages forced to grow sugar cane have more village-owned land and also have more schools and substantially higher education levels, both historically and today. The results suggest that the economic structures implemented by colonizers to facilitate production can continue to promote economic activity in the long run, and we discuss the contexts where such effects are most likely to be important.

Key words: Long-run development, Colonialism, Economic organization.

- ความแตกต่างหลักระหว่างการจัดเตรียม Manuscript เพื่อส่งวารสารต่างประเทศ กับ วารสารไทย คือ เรื่องของ Format ในขณะที่วารสารในไทย ค่อนข้างเข้มงวดกับ Format บทความ (เช่น ขนาดตัวอักษร ขอบกระดาษ การทำตาราง/รูปภาพ) แต่วารสารในต่างประเทศส่วนใหญ่จะเป็น Format-free submission ดูแค่ว่าองค์ประกอบของบทความครบถ้วนหรือไม่
- Platform ของวารสารต่างประเทศค่อนข้างเสถียร เป็นระบบ และใช้งานง่าย (วารสารของไทย ฐาน TCI ได้กำหนดให้ส่งผลงานทางอิเล็กทรอนิกส์ ผ่านเว็บไซต์ TCI Thai Jo แต่ยังใช้งานยาก)
- ไฟล์ที่ใช้ส่ง ขึ้นอยู่กับวารสาร (Ms. Word, Pdf, Latex) บางวารสารกำหนดให้ส่งตาราง/รูปแยกต่างหากจาก Main body (แต่ไม่ Strict มาก)

As detailed point-by-point in my Response to the Reviewers (attached herewith), I have redrafted my paper by taking into account all the remarks and recommendations made by the Referee #1. A side-letter explaining what remarks have been taken into account is also attached to this letter.

I believe that the revisions have greatly improved the paper and I thank the referees for the valuable comments and suggestions.

Finally, I thank you for giving me the opportunity to submit the revised version for publication.

Sincerely

Response to the first referee

Dear the first referee,

Thank you very much for your comments and recommendations on the revised version of my manuscript. In this second revised version of the paper, I have tried to address all remarks and recommendations made by you. I have also re-estimated the model to ensure that the results reported in this paper are correct and interpreted carefully, given the available data and methodology that are employed.

I hope that the revised version is now suitable for publication and look forward to hearing from you in due course.

Sincerely yours,

5.1 กลยุทธ์การส่งบทความ (การเลือกวารสาร)

“Submission Tree” (Hamermesh, 1992)

- ขั้นแรก เลือก Outlet ที่สูงกว่า “eventual target” เช่น คิดว่าบทความนี้เหมาะสมกับ Journal of International Development (Scopus, Q2, CiteScore 2.6) อาจจะเลือกส่ง Journal of Development Studies (Scopus, Q1, CiteScore 3.2)
- ข้อดีคือ ได้รับ comments ที่ดีกว่า (Good referee report!) แต่มีประเด็นเรื่องอัตราการตอบรับบทความต่ำ
- Gregory Mankiw (ใน Heintzelman and Nocetti, 2009) บอกว่า ข้อดีของการส่งไป top journal (แม้ว่าจะไม่มั่นใจ) คือ 1) นักวิจัยอาจจะไม่มั่นใจหรือมั่นใจเกินไปในบทความของตัวเอง ให้ editor ใน top journal ตัดสิน 2) เปเปอร์ที่ผู้เขียนคิดว่าไม่โดดเด่นอาจจะโดนใจ editor
- ข้อจำกัดคือ เวลา

5.1 กลยุทธ์การส่งบทความ (การ Resubmit บทความ)

5 ข้อ (Hamermesh, 1992)

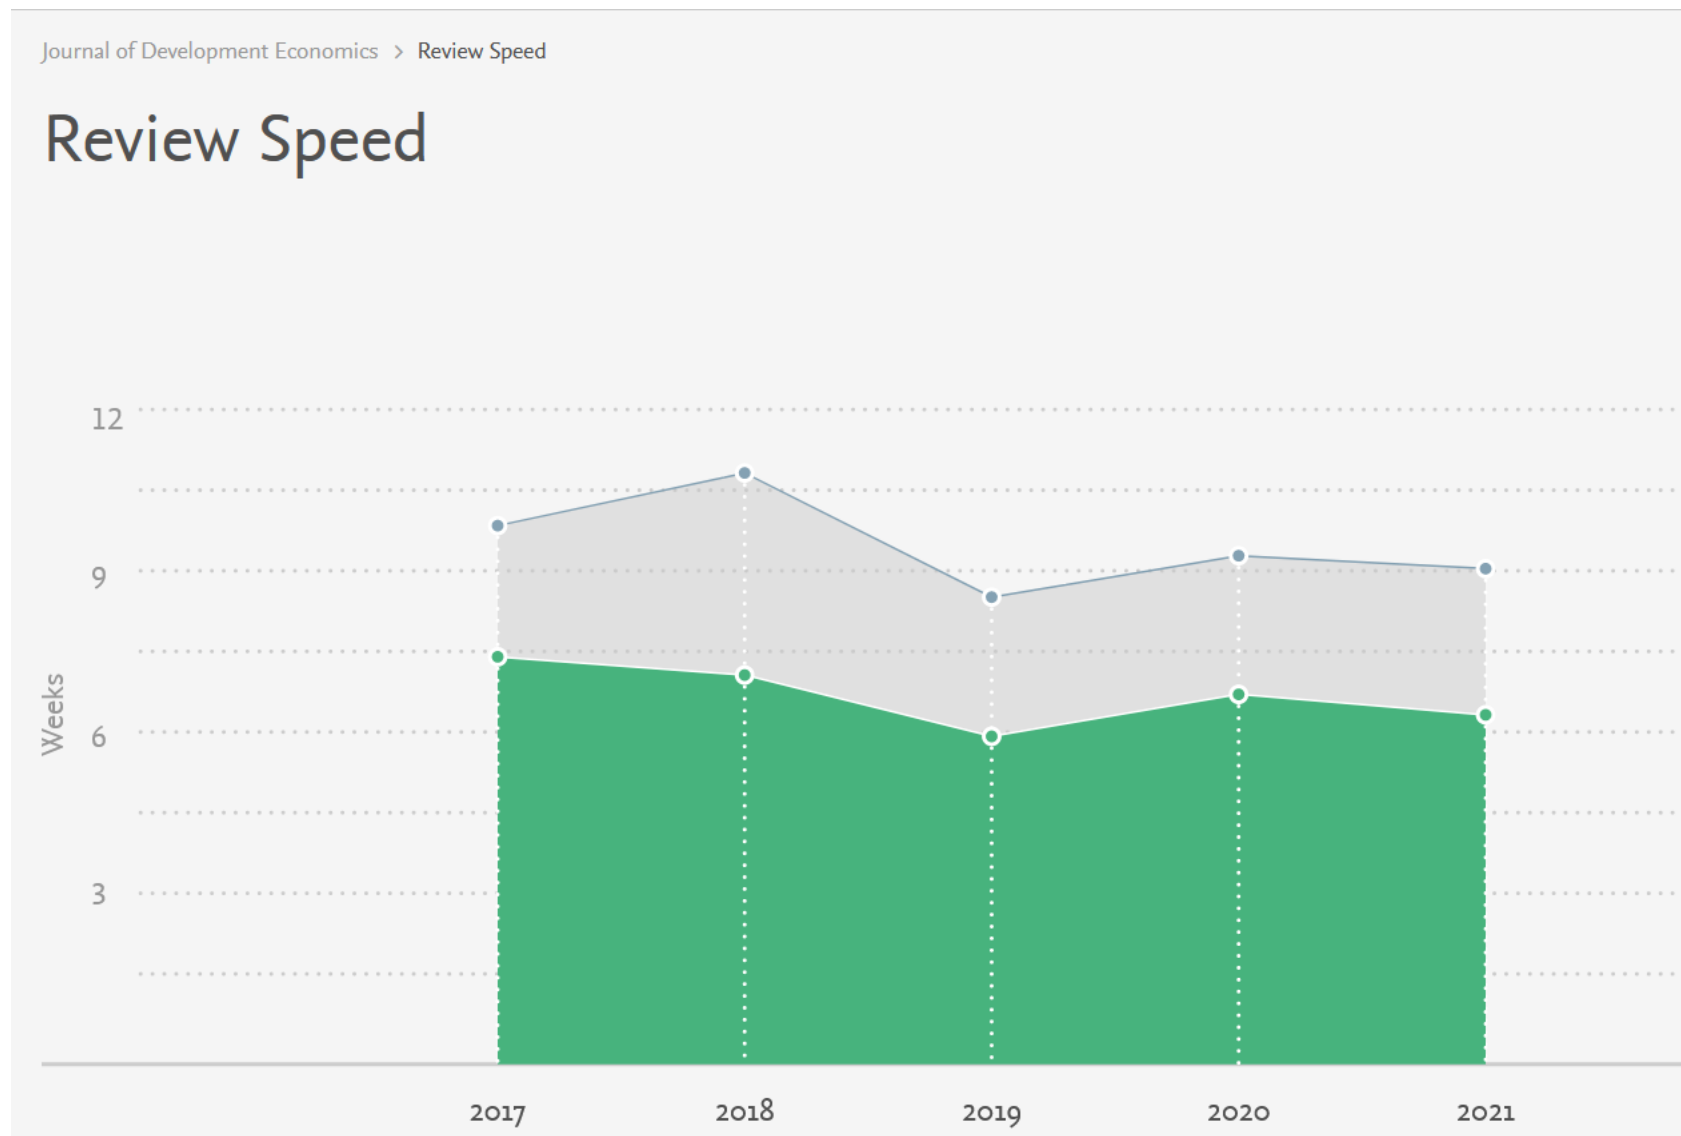

- ให้ Resubmit บทความ แม้จะถูก Outright/Desk Rejection
- ใช้ระยะเวลาอย่างน้อย 1 สัปดาห์ในการ “ย่อย” ข้อคิดเห็นของทั้ง editor และ reviewer
- Resubmitted work ควรจะนำข้อแนะนำของ editor และ reviewer มาปรับปรุง
- การแก้ไขเล็กน้อย (Minor changes) เช่น typo หรือ Structure of paper ควรทำให้เร็วที่สุด
- มีการบันทึกว่าได้แก้ไขอะไรไปบ้าง

Dear [REDACTED]

RE: [REDACTED]

Over the course of more than a year, I have been unable to find reviewers willing to provide us with a referee report on your paper. And I have contacted quite a number. This is very unfortunate, and I sincerely apologize for the delay it has caused. I am contacting you now to inquire how you would like us to proceed. I can keep trying, and I'm willing to do so, but I do understand if you have had enough, and prefer to take your paper elsewhere. Please let me know what you would like me to do.

Sincerely,
[REDACTED]

dear [REDACTED] thank you for your understanding.

This is to confirm that I have invited another round of (three) referees.

Please feel free to check with me towards the middle/end of Feb whether they have committed to provide reports. best, [REDACTED]

How to Write Applied Papers in Economics*

Abstract

How does one write good research papers? Though many research economists instinctively know how to do so, most have spent too little time thinking about how one writes good research papers, and even the most successful economists often have a hard time articulating a clear answer to that question. This is due to both (i) what economists read and (ii) how they read it. The goal of this paper is to teach readers how to write applied economics papers that will eventually be published in a peer-reviewed journal. The various components of an applied economics paper are discussed in as much detail as possible, roughly in the order in which they are tackled in the context of the typical research project.

6.2.1 Good Resources (Writing Tips)

- Short sentences are the best (See: The Old Man and the Sea, Ernest Hemingway)
- Author's ability to motivate an interesting question using economic logic, critically analyze the past literature (not just a review), and recognize empirical problems as they arise (three endogeneity issues).
- Highlight a central novelty related to existing economics research (takes much time than you thought!)
- Clarity takes priority when writing about economics. Don't worry about writing sharp if your writing is clear.

Abstract

Along the path of economic development, advancement of some groups naturally generates economic disparity in society. The concurrent presence of both winners and losers invariably give rise to the psychologically economic question of how the losers perceive and respond to the benefits of development. The 'tunnel effect' proposed by Hirschman provides valuable insights for understanding the changing tolerance of economic inequality in the process of economic development. This paper critically discusses this proposition, reviews the related literature, and provides possible

6.4 การตีพิมพ์บทความในรูปแบบอื่น

- นอกเหนือจากบทความในวารสาร ผลงานทางวิชาการ (ตามประกาศ กพอ 2564) ยังครอบคลุมงานวิชาการบางบทหรือส่วนหนึ่งของหนังสือที่มีผู้เขียนหลายคน (Book chapter) ที่มีบรรณาธิการโดยผู้ทรงคุณวุฒิในสาขานั้น ๆ ประเมินคุณภาพ
- จัดพิมพ์โดยสำนักพิมพ์ต่างประเทศซึ่งเป็นที่ยอมรับในวงวิชาการระดับสากล
- หลายมหาวิทยาลัยได้ออกระเบียบทุนสนับสนุนการตีพิมพ์ผลงานวิชาการในรูปแบบดังกล่าว
- ข้อเสีย: กพอ. ยังไม่มีการแบ่งระดับคุณภาพชัดเจนเหมือนวารสาร
- ความท้าทาย: 1) ส่วนมากจะเป็น Invitation (ยกเว้นหนังสือต่อเนื่องมาจาก Conference)
2) ระยะเวลาตีพิมพ์นาน คาดการณ์ไม่ได้ ขึ้นอยู่กับความพร้อมของบทอื่น ๆ
